Join faculty colleagues from around the State to explore service-learning as a high-impact educational practice for courses across disciplines. Topics to be covered include:

- Introduction to service-learning and its basic principles
- How service-learning can help students achieve desired learning outcomes
- How to establish and nurture partnerships with community organizations
- How to engage students in critical reflection
- The many forms of service-learning in the curriculum
- Elements of a service-learning course
- Composing a service-learning syllabus
- From design to implementation: managing the process

You will come away with a Service-Learning Course Design Worksheet that will guide you through the process of developing a new service-learning course or integrating service-learning in a significant new way into an existing one. Many other resources will be provided.

No prior knowledge of or experience with service-learning is expected.

Dr. Barbara Jacoby, respected author and national workshop presenter on service-learning, will facilitate the workshop.

The cost of the workshop is $55 for MDCCC members and $95 for non-members, including lunch and materials. To register, visit http://s-lcoursedesign.eventbrite.com/.
